

Roger Coates Labour History Research Grant - up to $10,000

Applications are invited from people currently engaged in (or about to commence) a research project dealing with Australian labour history.

The Roger Coates Labour History Research Grant will assist with the cost of such projects, with priority to projects with good prospects of publication or other public use, but without access to other funding.

The SEARCH Foundation is auspicing the Roger Coates Labour History Research Grant. It is an independent, non-profit foundation established to promote social justice, environmental sustainability and the development of a more democratic and egalitarian society. Details of its aims and objectives are available on request.

Suitably qualified applicants should contact the SEARCH Foundation for detailed application guidelines.

Applications must be received by July 31, 2009
